

Components of an Abstract

Write your abstract last thing before you hand in, and make sure that it has:

- A line of context
- A brief statement of the problem or the conceptual framework of the research
- The method of data collection
- The key findings
- The key message