Our reputation for teaching excellence is enhanced by a number of visiting/adjunct professors from other business schools around the world. We also have a number of part-time lecturers who work in organisations and then bring their up-to-the-minute, practical knowledge into the classroom. The course content is not just theoretical but provides real world case studies, and as a result from day one you are forced to approach the content as you would if you were a decision maker within your organization. You will have access to and engage with subject matter experts that are not just academics but are industry and corporate giants and this lends credence to the claim that Wits gives you the edge!

- Zukhanye N. Kwinana, MBA (2015/2016)

With my career spanning many years in technology, I was always intimidated by the business world. The Wits MBA gave me a good overview of the business world, thereby helping me make better informed contribution and decisions at work and in my personal life. This overview has enabled me to identify business areas that I felt I needed to explore further. My research project, with the help of a supervisor that deemed my successful completion as a key deliverable on his part, turned out to be a consolidated application of the material covered throughout the program.
